

Firestarter Press - November 15, 2024

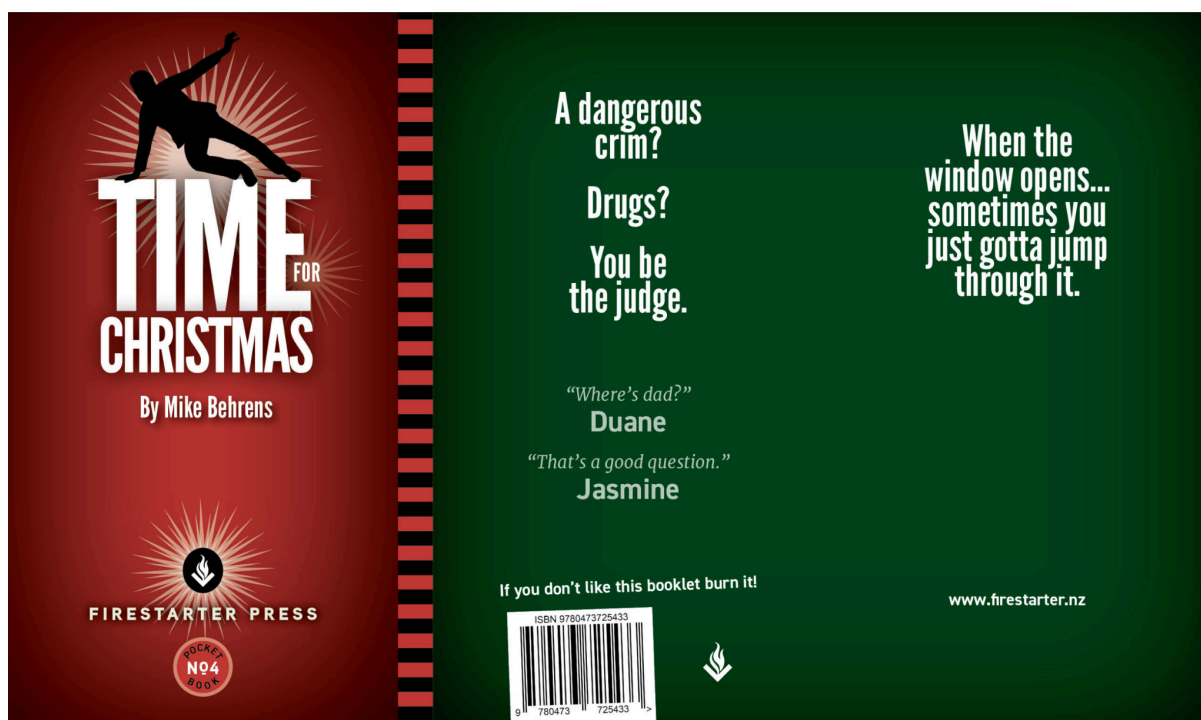

Time for Christmas

Title and webpage: Time for Christmas

Author: Mike Behrens

Pocket Book No 4

When the window opens...sometimes you just gotta jump through it.
Is Duane's dad a dangerous crim? Is he a druggie? You be the judge.

Sample Text

“At the time I wasn’t sure why I bolted.
I think I might know now because I have had sessions with this chick, Tara, who fixes my writing and we talk about other stuff like thinking.
I don’t tell her all my thoughts though I wouldn’t mind.
Anyway I didn’t get bail.
The duty lawyer said I wouldn’t and she was right.”

About the Author

Of German and Irish descent, Mike was born in 1941 in Lower Hutt where he went to school.

He studied law at Otago University. He worked as a defence lawyer in Palmerston North before becoming a Queen’s Counsel and eventually a District Court Judge and a Parole Board Judge.

In the 1980s he worked on the subs bench at the Manawatu [sic] Evening Standard where he also did a bit of court, sport and general reporting.

People often ask Mike when is he going to write his memoir? His reply is usually something along the lines of: "If I did that I would have to tell the truth."

At the time of publication Mike was writing his memoirs in the form of poetry and prose.

Product Information

ISBN: 978-0-473-72543-3

Product Type: Pocket Book

Bind: Firestarter wrap

Pages: 28

Dimensions: 79mm x 149mm

Publication date: Spring 2024

Publisher: Firestarter Press

Printed and hand bound in Masterton, Aotearoa by Greenlees Print.

Cover stock: Eco100

Page stock: 80gsm Munken

No plastic laminates have been used in the production of this book.

Title font: League Gothic

Body font: Merriweather

Burn time: 3 minutes, 15 seconds.

Marketing Collateral

Feature image for Woocommerce/Shopify page - Download